Just writing to let you know that it will be in the first anthology of the year that I am working on - ABLAZE - out in March. I'm trying to work out if I can get this book to you before I go on holiday (spending it with my daughter) - but I'm not sure that I can. However, I will definitely be getting it to you in time to order it for the Leger catalog. (I had an Amazon wish list purchase on my Kindle for a while and I plan to use that list.) Best Wishes and happy knitting,Elizabeth Elizabeth Hawley: I would LOVE to do your handknit shawls in the ABLAZE book. I really can't wait. Unfortunately, I can't predict how long it will be until the book comes out. I am not sure if I can make the release before I have to be in a different part of the world (I have a planned vacation at the end of March). How exciting - I am working on my new shawl design, a small, colorful baby blanket. It's just a freeform circular shawl but it's so fun. It should be finished tonight. I will share photos of it when it's completely finished. "All of you who make beautiful, useful things, fashion things, home things, all that you do in your little world is magic... you don't know how much I love you all." - Alice A lot of folks are knitting the "Flower Garden" shawl from The Knitting Animals. I knit two and loved them, but the stitching, with the bars and everything else, was a huge chore. I still like the design, but was a little disappointed in the look. Well, that's all I have to say. I'll be gone next week - shopping with the girls! Have a great vacation - maybe some fun sketching while you're on vacation! ElizabethHawley: Thanks for the feedback! It's much appreciated! I can't say what I will do yet - because I've been trying to work on the shawl design myself

Puromycin aminonucleoside (PAN) is a promising experimental agent for studying the pathogenesis of human lupus nephritis. However, since PAN produces a hyperfiltration glomerulopathy in some animals, we examined the nephron response to this model of lupus nephritis. Injection of PAN into rats produced a reproducible nephrotic syndrome and glomerulosclerosis with focal proliferative and exudative lesions. By light microscopy, quantitative comparisons demonstrated significant glomerulosclerosis with loss of basement membranes and a proteinuria of 2 to 3 mg/day. Electron microscopy revealed extrafibrillar deposition of IgG and C3 within the mesangial matrix and underlying basement membranes, as well as newly formed basement membrane complexes. The glomerular filtration rate increased from 130 +/- 9 to 370 +/- 36 microns/min after PAN injection. By means of an in vivo permeability assay, we found that baseline glomerular permeability of albumin was increased from 0.22 to 1.1 X 10(-6) cm/s in PAN b7e8fdf5c8
